Dear Parents, Students, and HPS Community,

As we progress through this academic year, I am proud of the strides we're making in establishing Habib Public School and High School as a premier center of excellence. Our commitment to academic rigor, sporting excellence, and digital innovation continues to drive us forward. Our students have achieved outstanding academic results, reflecting their perseverance and our focus on fostering curiosity and critical thinking. In sports, HPS's legacy shines as our athletes have won accolades in cricket, football, swimming, and basketball, exemplifying teamwork, discipline, and dedication. Additionally, our digital transformation journey has brought new tech-driven learning experiences to the classroom, preparing students for the modern world. We are continuously implementing strategies to leverage technology to enhance both teaching and learning processes at HPS and HPHS. The forthcoming Symposium on "AI in English Language Learning" in collaboration with Society of Pakistan English Language Teachers (SPELT) is the testament to our vision of Innovation through digital transformation. Thank you for your unwavering support in making these achievements possible. Together, let us continue to inspire and challenge our students to reach new heights.

MEET MR. TARIQ IQBAL- SENIOR SECTION COORDINATOR FOR THE LEADER IN ME PROGRAM

- Interview conducted by Syed Ayaan Ahmed

Q.1 Can you share how the Leader in Me program has been implemented in the senior section? What are some key strategies you have used to engage the students?

The Leader in Me program in the senior section integrates the 7 Habits into academics and extracurriculars. Key strategies include leadership roles in clubs, student-led projects, peer mentorship, and workshops on skills like public speaking and time management, allowing students to build practical leadership abilities.

Q.2 What are the most significant benefits of the Leader in Me program for senior students?

The program helps senior students develop essential leadership skills, boost self-confidence, and adopt a proactive mindset. They learn effective time management, improve communication skills, and work collaboratively, this prepares them for future challenges in higher education and their careers.

Q.3 How do you integrate the 7 Habits into daily school activities and the overall curriculum?

We integrate the 7 Habits into various aspects of school life, from leadership roles in the classroom and school assemblies to extracurricular activities. Teachers embed habit-related discussions into lessons, encouraging students to reflect on their behaviour and apply the principles in goal-setting, teamwork, and other daily tasks.

Q.4 Have you noticed changes in student behavior or leadership qualities since the program's introduction?

Yes, the changes have been noticeable. Students have become more responsible and proactive. They take greater ownership of their tasks, communicate more effectively, and collaborate more willingly. For example, we've seen students volunteering to lead school events and projects, which highlights their growing leadership capabilities.

Q.5 How do you encourage students to apply the 7 Habits outside school in their personal lives and future careers?

We encourage students to set personal goals, take initiative in family or community activities, and reflect on how the 7 Habits apply to real-life situations. Leadership talks and mentorship programs help them prepare for future careers and challenges.

Q.6 What advice would you give to students who want to take on leadership roles in school or their communities?

Start by being proactive and taking responsibility. Lead by example, listen to others, and always seek to create positive outcomes for everyone involved. Stay resilient, and never stop learning or improving yourself as a leader.
