Dear Readers,

We recently had the privilege of celebrating Teachers' Day with a meaningful theme that resonates deeply with our school's mission: "Teachers as Leaders." This celebration was perfectly aligned with our Leader in Me program, highlighting the profound leadership our educators demonstrate every single day. Our teachers don't simply deliver lessons they inspire, guide, and empower our students to discover their own leadership potential. Through the Seven Habits framework, they model proactive thinking, begin with the end in mind, and put first things first. They create synergy in their classrooms and help students sharpen the saw through continuous growth and learning. Students organized heartfelt tributes, sharing stories of how their teachers have impacted their lives beyond academics. Our teachers are exceptional because they nurture leaders, not just learners, recognizing and developing each student's unique strengths. They turn every interaction into a leadership opportunity, creating an environment where students feel valued and empowered.

YOUNG VOICES – CREATIVE CORNER

01

We are pleased to introduce Students' Written Stories – a new addition celebrating the creativity and imagination of our young Habibians. Each piece reflects their unique voice and heartfelt expression.

1: THE PAPER BIRD (INSPIRATIONAL) BY: ZORAIN AHMED (IX-K)

A daughter's hope takes flight with a thousand paper cranes.

Lina loved folding paper cranes. She believed each one carried a wish.
Her father was sick, so she folded a thousand, each with the same wish: "Please make him better."
When the last crane was finished, she hung them by his window.
That night, a breeze swept through, lifting the cranes into the air.
Lina watched as they shimmered like stars, vanishing into the sky.
The next morning, her father woke up smiling, saying he'd dream of flying birds bringing him peace.
From that day, Lina folded cranes not for wishes – but for hope.

2: THE LAST GOAL (SPORTS / EMOTIONAL) BY: EHTISHAM LODHI (IX-L)

One final kick, one moment of courage – and a victory that means more than a game

It was the championship match, and the score was tied.
Ayan's team needed one more goal, but his injured leg throbbed with pain.
The coach shouted, "You can do it!"
With seconds left, Ayan sprinted, ignoring everything but the goalpost.
He kicked – and scored just as the whistle blew.
The crowd erupted, teammates lifted him high.
Later, as he sat alone, he smiled through the pain.
He didn't just win a game – he proved to himself that courage always scores.

3: THE TIME CAPSULE (NOSTALGIC) BY: ABDUL BASIT (IX-K)

Four friends dig up the past – and rediscover the timeless treasure of friendship.

In 2010, four friends buried a box behind their school.
Inside, they placed photos, letters, and a promise to open it in ten years.
When they finally returned, the school was gone – replaced by a new building.
Still, they dug near the old tree and found the rusted box.
Inside was a note that read, "If you're reading this, we made it."
They laughed, cried, and took a new photo together.
The time capsule didn't just hold memories – it held proof that friendship lasts beyond time.

4: THE BUS STOP (REALISTIC / UPLIFTING) BY: AZAAN QAZI (IX-L)

A small act of kindness comes full circle in the most unexpected way.

It rained heavily as an old man waited for the bus, shivering.
People hurried past, ignoring him.
Then a boy ran up, offering his umbrella and smile.
The man thanked him, but the boy just waved and ran off.
Later that night, the old man, a school principal, reviewed new admissions.
One form caught his eye – the same boy, applying for a scholarship.
He smiled and signed it.
Sometimes, kindness circles back when you least expect it.

5: THE PAINTED DOOR (MYSTERY) BY: ABBAS NAQVI (IX-L)

A young artist's imagination opens the doorway to endless worlds.

Aisha loved painting. One day, she painted a door on her bedroom wall – blue with golden handles.
Before sleeping, she wished, "I wish I could walk into my art."
At midnight, the painted door glowed.
Curious, she touched the handle – and stepped through.
She found herself in a world made of colors, where her drawings floated in the sky.
A voice whispered, "Create what you dream."
When she woke, the paintbrush was glowing.
Aisha smiled – art, she realized, was the doorway to endless worlds.
